

MR TWEE DEEDLE.

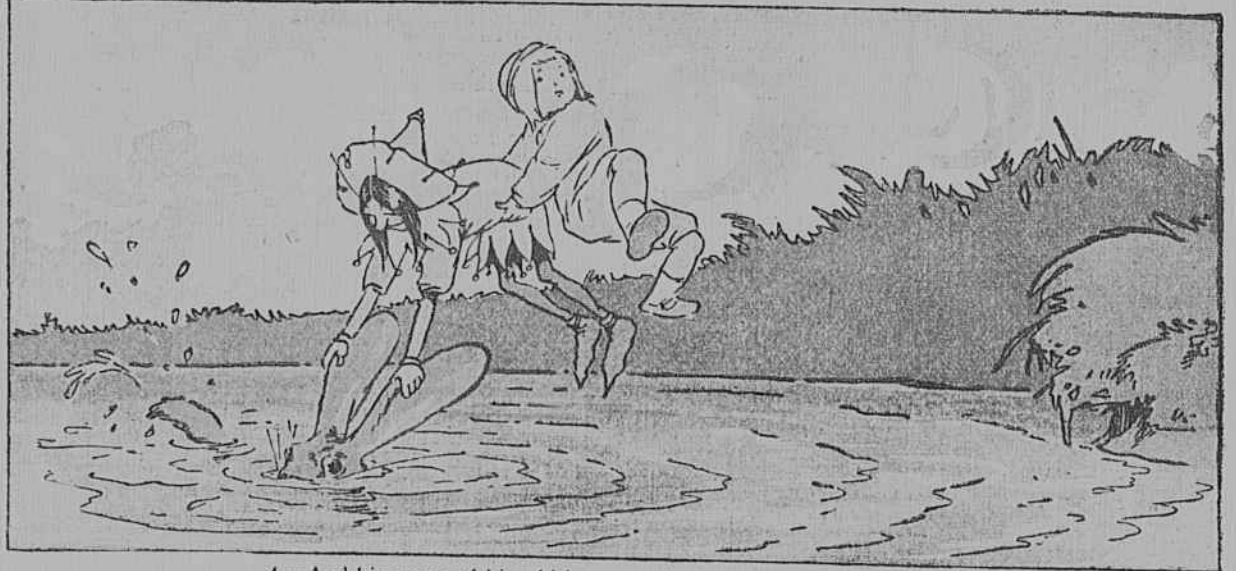

1.—Tweep Deedle and Dickie were resting one day.
When they saw Brother Rabbit just over the way.

2.—"Swim over," called Dickie. "and join us, I beg."
The Rabbit jumped in, and was seized by the leg

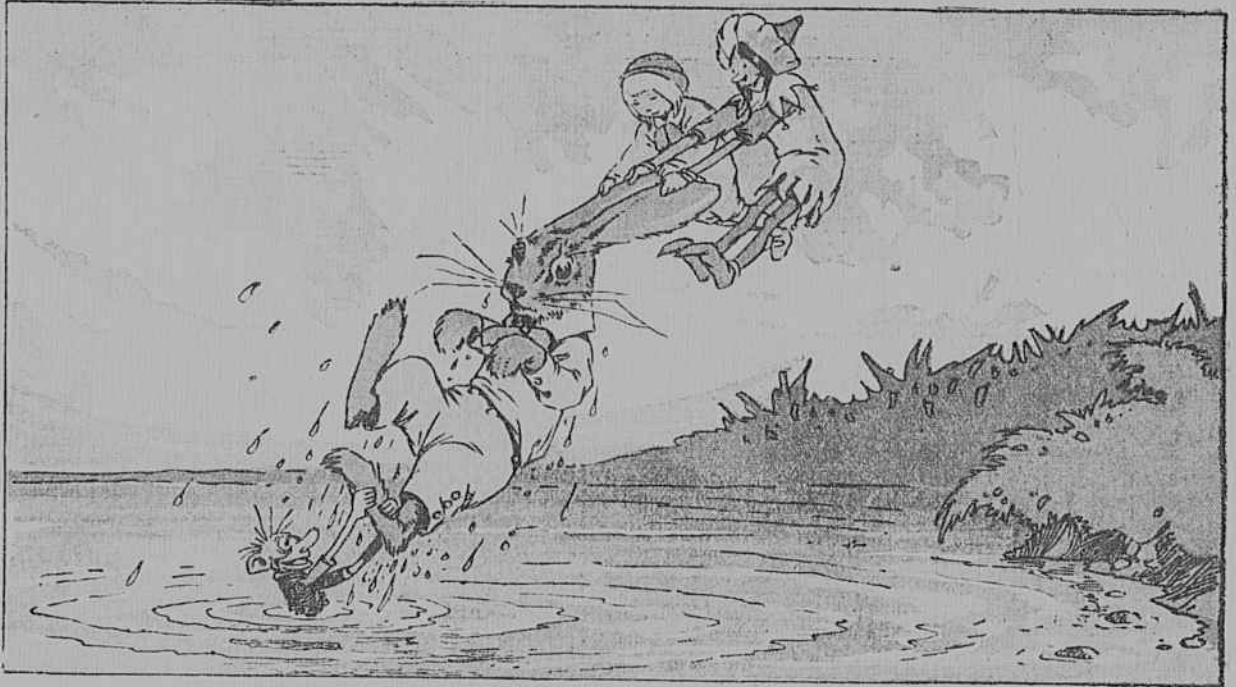

3.—By a Wild Gogaloon, which, to Dickie's surprise,
Dragged down poor Br'er Rabbit till only his eyes

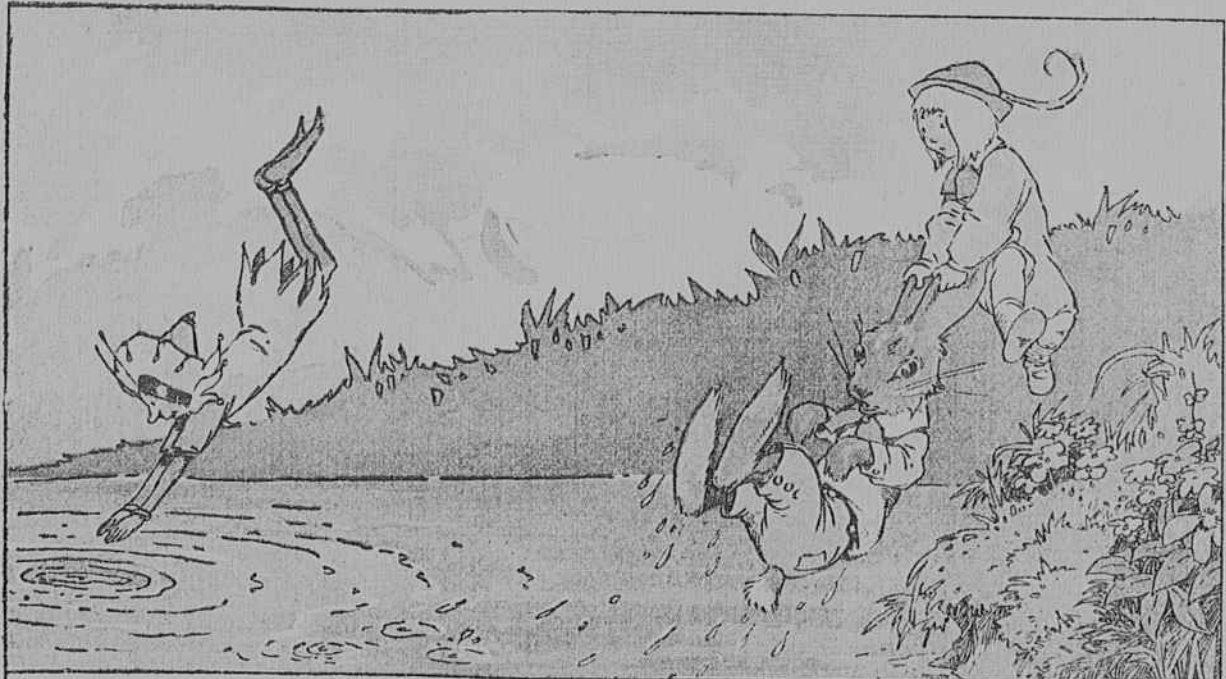

4.—And his ears and his whiskers remained above water.
Said Dickie:—"You know, Tweep Deedle, he'd oughter

5.—"Have stayed where he was. There's his head; now, do grab it!"
So Tweep Deedle did so, and poor Brother Rabbit

6.—Was hauled and was pulled and was pulled and was hauled,
But their pulling and hauling did no good at all

7.—Till Tweep Deedle sprang high in the air from the bank,
Leaving nothing but bubbles to mark where he sank.

8.—"It's all right," said Tweep Deedle, returning; "we've got him,
I've tied that old Gogaloon fast to the bottom."

JOHN GRUELLE

(COPYRIGHT, 1912, BY THE
NEW YORK HERALD CO.)
All Rights Reserved